COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT
McKINLEYVILLE – The County of Humboldt's Planning & Building Department has released the Draft Environmental Impact Report (DEIR) for the proposed McKinleyville Town Center Zoning Amendment.

This report examines how the proposed zoning changes could affect the local environment. Community members are encouraged to review the DEIR and provide feedback during the public comment period.

Background

The Humboldt County General Plan and McKinleyville Community Plan outline a vision for the McKinleyville Town Center to be developed with a mix of commercial, civic and residential uses, public gathering spaces, open space and wetland preservation. Part of the vision is to create a vibrant area where

'Our Home' residence hall complex a work in progress

ARCATA – Cal Poly Humboldt last Thursday offered a ground-floor tour of its newest housing complex, located at the former site of – and up until now, still commonly called – the Craftsman Mall.

The newly named Hinarr Hu Moulik Student Housing Complex's buildings may appear almost complete as viewed in passing from the freeway, with their crisp lines and cream-and-slate finish – especially in contrast to the ramshackle mall buildings they replaced.

Up close, the two unfinished, L-shaped structures are very much a work in progress. Save for one mocked-up, still powerless student apartment, the interior is reminiscent of the deeper recesses of the USSCS Nostromo – a chaotic tangle of beams, with cables and ducts dangling over stacks of fixtures and fittings lining dark passages. Uninstalled drop ceilings reveal the structures' guts – more wires, cables and pipes connecting the smart buildings' various components.

Outside, massive ducts pump warm air from heaters up through the upper floors, baking in the freshly installed construction materials. On the ground floor, hard-hatted workers from Sundt Construction and

Cal Poly Humboldt Hip Hop Conference

CAL POLY HUMBOLDT
CAL POLY CAMPUS – What began over a decade ago as a single course – Hip Hop and the Black Experience – has grown into a powerful annual tradition for Cal Poly Humboldt's Critical Race, Gender & Sexuality Studies (CRGS) Department. Now in its 12th year, the Cal Poly Humboldt Hip Hop Conference returns April 17-18 with a clear message at its core: More Power to the People.
Launched in 2013 by CRGS Professor Ramona Bell, the Hip Hop Conference blends scholarship, performance and activism into a multi-day event that Friday, April 18, dives deeper into the roots and evolution of the culture with presentations in Siemens Hall 108 from 5 to 8 p.m.
Highlights include:
• Professor Maxwell Schnurer will engage in an interactive DJ set titled "Vinyl Sampling, Hip Hop Breaks and Copyright," exploring the creative and legal sides of one of Hip Hop's foundational techniques.
• "The Indigenization of Rap Music in Senegal" by CRGS Professor Joseph Diémé, who will discuss the evolution of rap music from the Bronx to Sénégal via France and show how Indigenous languages shaped rap's power in Senegalese political discourse.
There will be 20 academic presentations that cover various aspects of Hip-Hop Culture. One presentation will examine how graffiti and street art serve as visual counter-narratives, enabling marginalized Black and Latino youth to assert their cultural identities, reclaim public spaces and resist systemic oppression.
Another presentation will focus on how commercialization has impacted Hip-Hop's cultural authenticity, shifting it from a form of resistance to a multi-billion-dollar industry driven by consumerism and corporate influence.
There will be an analysis of rap lyrics that address mental health and environmental issues, highlighting how artists use their words to challenge social injustices. Other topics include Black womanhood, sexuality, cultural appropriation by K-pop and white artists, Christian rap, elements of Hip-Hop, Hip-Hop in education and more.
Friday night ends with a full-on Hip Hop Celebration at the D Street Neighborhood Center from 8 to 10 p.m., featuring performances by MC NacOne, FloJ, B. Writes, Zera Starchild, RA, DJ Goldylocks, DJ Chuck Angeles and more. There will be free food, live music and a whole lot of community love.

welcomes students, faculty, staff and the community. It is free, open to the public and filled with energy, creativity and conversation.
This year's theme speaks to hip-hop's enduring role as a voice for the marginalized and a tool for community building.
"Given our current political moment, we all could use community uplift, hope and a sense of belonging. We need to build each other and the community up and Hip-Hop culture has always done just that," says Professor Bell.
Thursday, April 17 kicks off the conference with a live performance by local favorite Dre-T, performing at Fulkerson Recital Hall (Music B 132) from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Expect high-energy storytelling, beats and socially conscious lyrics that speak to the heart of the Hip Hop tradition. The performance will be followed by a moderated talk.

Todd and Tyler are no mere seasonal phenomenon

This time of year I get a lot of questions about “puppy season.” There is a distinct “kitten season” and we are heading into that right now. Currently there are only six cats available for adoption at the shelter, but as within a month or two the numbers will swell with litters of kittens coming in after being found in barns or under bushes. Puppies do not really seem to have a season and show up all year-round.

Redwood Pals Rescue has already transferred almost 100 puppies to our rescue partners in the Pacific Northwest just since the beginning of the year. I’ll be on the road with 14 puppies as this edition hits the stands.

Why do we do this? We have found that there just aren’t enough homes in Humboldt for all the pups that are born here. The last 10 puppies that went north were put up for adoption on a Saturday morning and by Sunday evening nine had been adopted!

The 14 puppies I am driving came from two litters, both of which had no place to go on a recent afternoon. We recruited two of our wonderful fosters who have kept the pups safe and fed until their travel date. We are always looking for people who might be interested in fostering puppies. Contact us at redwoodpalsrescue@gmail.com.

I have written about my pup Frannie, who came to us after a gentleman decided that trying to raise a puppy while living in a non-operational vehicle might be more than he could do. (He didn’t even know yet that she was deaf.) After taking in Frannie, her litter mates and relatives started showing up at the shelter. They are as nice as she is and we hope they’ll all find their forever homes soon!

In a very similar situation, one of our volunteers took in a puppy when it was found wandering in traffic in downtown Arcata. Zeppy is available for adoption through Redwood Pals and has been featured here recently. Since we took in Zeppy, his littermates have started showing up at the shelter. Their sweet natures and very similar coloring make it pretty clear that ter a little longer, which just means he has had a little more experience with the volunteers who play with the pups and help them get used to walking on leashes. They both love to run and play with their toys but also enjoy coming in for some cuddling. If Zeppy is any example, these pups will be easy to train and great family pets!

If you are looking for a playful young dog with a good temperament, check out Todd and Tyler. We expect these pups will be around 45 pounds (Tyler might be a little larger) at maturity. They would do well in a home with other dogs and, as puppies, have potential to do well in a home with cats. Their adoption fee covers their neuter, all necessary vaccinations, and microchipping, at a cost far less than you would pay if you did those things on your own.

Come meet these cuties at the Humboldt County Animal Shelter! Appointments can be made by calling (707) 840-9132.

other contractors toil in teams on details of the project, inside and out, resolving unfinished items.

Even in low light, the facilities look like deluxe digs for future students, especially compared to the old, cramped on-campus dorms, acknowledged tour leader and Humboldt State University alumnus Mike Fisher, acting vice president for Administration & Finance, who once lived in them.

Hinarr Hu Moulik is rising in the Craftsman Mall location where its proposed predecessor, The Village, would have been sited. That project, which died in 2020 after not gaining Arcata City Council approval, would have housed 602 students in multiple 2- and 4-story buildings.

The CSU system subsequently gained control of the site, and the much larger current project – under state control and all but immune to local regulation – took its place.

Cal Poly Humboldt news release

This fall, Cal Poly Humboldt will open the doors to Hinarr Hu Moulik, the University’s largest student housing project in its history. The name—meaning “Our House/Home” in the Wiyot language—reflects a deep commitment to community, inclusion, and sustainability. (Pronounced hee-NOD huh MOO-leek).

Located just a half mile north of campus, the $226 million, student-centered complex will house up to 964 students across two multi-story apartment-style buildings, meeting the growing demand for housing. With its state-of-the-art amenities, environmentally conscious design, and community-focused spaces, Hinarr Hu Moulik epitomizes Humboldt’s transformation into California’s third polytechnic university.

“This project reflects the values of our University — academic excellence, environmental responsibility, and a student-first approach,” says Mike Fisher, acting vice president for Administration & Finance. “It’s not just housing. It’s home.”

It will, in fact, be a home base for future scientists, engineers, educators, artists, and innovators.

“Hinarr Hu Moulik represents a bold investment in our students and in the future of Cal Poly Humboldt,” says Chrissy Holliday, Vice President for Enrollment Management & Student Success. “It’s not just about meeting the need for high-quality, affordable housing—it’s about creating a space where students can thrive.”

Funded from the state’s historic $458 million investment in the University’s polytechnic transformation, this housing complex is the first major facility built as part of that effort. It’s also the first student housing development since the College Creek Apartments in 2010, increasing the University-owned housing capacity by nearly 50 percent.

Students will enjoy a wide array of on-site amenities, including:

- Study spaces and computer rooms
- Community lounges and television rooms
- An exercise gym and conference rooms
- A café/market dubbed 101 Express
- Covered and secure bicycle parking
- Ample parking and EV charging stations
- Green space for recreation and relaxation

The Hinarr Hu Moulik Housing Complex will also include access to the Annie and Mary Trail system, which connects to Arcata Marsh and the Humboldt Bay trail. The Annie Mary trail will also serve as the primary pedestrian route to the main campus via Sunset Avenue.

Additionally, Cal Poly Humboldt has been working with the City of Arcata and Caltrans District 1 on plans and funding to improve pedestrian safety across the Sunset overpass, with plans for construction to begin as early as 2026, making it easier for students to commute to and from campus.

In keeping with the University’s legacy of environmental leadership, the project incorporates sustainable features like high-efficiency irrigation, energy-efficient lighting and appliances, water-saving plumbing and durable exterior materials. The complex will also feature on-site solar energy production and use Energy Star appliances throughout. The building is built to a LEED Gold equivalent.

Safety is also a cornerstone of Hinarr Hu Moulik’s design. Built to meet or exceed all California Fire Code and Building Code requirements, the facility will include advanced emergency and security systems, non-combustible construction materials, sprinkler systems and strategically placed hydrants.

The complex includes an added emergency access route to Eye Street, which will improve response times and emergency preparedness.

The Hinarr Hu Moulik East building will open to students in August, just in time to welcome transfer and returning undergrad and graduate students before the Fall semester begins.

The Hinarr Hu Moulik West building will follow shortly after, ensuring continued housing availability for transfer and returning students and making room in other on-campus housing for incoming first-year students eager to live in the heart of a vibrant, supportive community.

people can live, work and gather, with easy access by walking, biking, driving or via public transit.

To make this vision a reality, the county is proposing two amendments to the existing zoning code:

Rezone the entire McKinleyville Town Center site as Mixed Use-Urban (MU1), which allows a mix of residential, commercial and civic uses.

Adopt “Q-Zone” combining regulations that, among other guidance, would modify the proposed principal Mixed Use zoning regulations.

In addition, the county is proposing a change to the McKinleyville Community Plan to incorporate the General Plan adopted definition of a wetland as three parameters, rather than the current single parameter definition.

These changes would support future development that could include up to 2,650 multi-family housing units, 632,800 square feet of retail/commercial space and up to 271,200 square feet of office space.

Development of the new McKinleyville Town Center would happen gradually over time, with each new project going through a zoning conformance review process known as Zoning Clearance Certification.

Share Your Input

The DEIR for the McKinleyville Town Center Zoning Amendment has been released for its public review period. The DEIR can be found at the county’s McKinleyville Town Center Master Plan web page. The public review period will run for 45-days, from Friday, April 11 to Tuesday, May 27.

All interested community members are encouraged to review the document and share their input. This is an important opportunity for Humboldt County residents to help shape the future of McKinleyville.

Written comments on the DEIR will be accepted by email to ceqa_responses@humboldt.ca.us or by mail to Attn: Long Range Planning Division, Planning & Building Department, 3015 H St., Eureka CA, 95501. In order to assist each local jurisdiction, please include whether you reside in unincorporated Humboldt County or within an incorporated city.

Public Meeting

The county will hold a public meeting to discuss the DEIR and receive comments from the public. All interested parties are invited to attend. The meeting will include a brief presentation of the results of the DEIR and will provide attendees with an opportunity to provide public comments on the draft report.

The public meeting to discuss the DEIR will be held during the McKinleyville Municipal Advisory Committee (MMAC) meeting on Wednesday, April 23 at 6 p.m. Community members may attend in person at Azalea Hall, located at 1620 Pickett Rd. in McKinleyville or on Zoom.

Attend on Zoom

Join the meeting by visiting Zoom and entering meeting ID 844 4994 7337 and passcode 043757. To access the meeting by phone, please call 1-669-900-6833 and enter phone conference ID 844 4994 7337#.

The County of Humboldt is committed to providing equal access to all county programs, services and activities through the provision of accommodations for individuals with qualified disabilities as required under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). With 72 hours prior notice, a request for reasonable accommodation for the public meeting can be made by calling (707) 268-3732.

PROTEST TO ENACT CHANGE Thursday, April 19 from noon to 2 p.m. will be another loud day of protest at a Food Not Bombs food drive at the Humboldt County Courthouse, 825 5th St., Eureka. Show local and national politicians that we will not sit idly by and let them dismantle the institutions we have always depended on with use of sweeping DOGE cuts, illegal deportations, attacks on the LGBTQ community, quelling of First Amendment rights, attacks on science and the environment and destruction of social services. This is a peaceful event where all are welcome. Bring your families with you, offer to take your neighbors and be part of a movement to enact change.

ARCATA – Redwood Capital Bank will hold a ribbon cutting ceremony on Tuesday, April 29 at 5:15 p.m. at the Arcata Branch, 1315 G St., Arcata.

The event is to celebrate the recently installed Dunkleosteus sculpture.

Vice President Bob Judevine, Arcata Branch manager, commented, "Our new sculpture replicates a prehistoric shark called a Dunkleosteus, that terrorized the seas approximately 350 million years ago. This was roughly 100 million years before the age of dinosaurs. 'Dunk' joins our two other Arcata Branch mascots, Bruce the Great White Shark and Babs, the Quetzalcoatlus (courtesy of the Natural History Museum). Dunk lives outside Redwood Capital Bank's Arcata Branch and was created by Byran McWalters of Mad Metals."

John Dalby, President and CEO added, "We invite the public to attend the ribbon cutting ceremony to welcome Dunk to the Arcata Branch and the community."

KMWTN trains workers for Klamath restoration

BIGFOOT TRAIL ALLIANCE
BAYSIDE – In the wake of historic dam removals and amid the profound healing of the newly free-flowing Klamath River, a new force for restoration and resilience is emerging.

The Bigfoot Trail Alliance, in collaboration with regional nonprofits, educational partners and local Tribes, proudly announces the launch of the Klamath Mountains Workforce Training Network (KMWTN).

This place-based initiative will equip young people with tools, mentorship and technical skills to care for their bioregion and ancestral landscapes and chart meaningful career paths in conservation and ecological restoration.

With financial support from the Klamath River Fund: Community Impact Grant 2025 of the Humboldt Area Foundation and Wild Rivers Community Foundation, the KMWTN will serve underrepresented youth (ages 15 to 24) across Humboldt, Siskiyou and Trinity counties, where opportunity is often scarce but ecological need is profound.

Participants from rural and Indigenous backgrounds will engage in immersive field workshops and Geographic Information Systems (GIS) technical training highlighting ecosystem restoration and outdoor leadership.

“In the Klamath Mountains, fire-scoured canyons and ancient conifers tell stories of deep time and resilience,” said Mike Splain, development director at Bigfoot Trail Alliance. “The KMWTN seeks to add a new chapter — one written by young people who stay, learn and lead.”

In its inaugural year, the KMWTN will guide up to fifty youth through four transformational learning experiences:

- Summer 2025: GIS and cartography training at a Tribal Youth Forestry Camp in Orleans and Happy Camp
- Fall 2025: “Beavers and Trails” restoration workshop in Scott Valley
- Winter 2026: Online GIS certification with bioregion-specific applications
- Spring 2026: “Weeds and Plants” immersion in the Salmon River canyon focused on invasive species eradication and native plant restoration

To ensure equitable access, participants will receive a daily work and travel stipend, with computers and tablets provided for digital skills training.

These sessions will be led by seasoned professionals from partner organizations such as the Scott River Watershed Council, Salmon River Restoration Council, Ascend Wilderness Experience, The Watershed Research and Training Center, Trinity Together, Trinity County Resource Conservation District and others.

Tribal youth will receive priority access, and all participants will be equipped with the tools and guidance to thrive.

“Professional training in conservation not only equips youth with lifelong skills—it also connects them to the land in a way that inspires stewardship and pride,” said Charnna Gilmore, executive director of the Scott River Watershed Council. “This kind of investment in young people transforms lives and landscapes.”

The goal: to create a regenerative cycle in which today’s students become tomorrow’s mentors, scientists and stewards of the land.

This collaborative effort is more than workforce development — it is a movement for cultural revitalization, ecological repair and community resilience, rooted in one of the most biodiverse and storied landscapes in North America.

TREE-RING CIRCUS Tree Circus Founder Timmy Womick and Naturalist Grayson Keating perform for Washington School. PHOTO BY KATHLEEN KOSTA

The Tree Circus thrills and teaches elementary school students for Arbor Day week

EUREKA SEQUOIA GARDEN CLUB
HUMBOLDT – To celebrate California Arbor Day, the Eureka Sequoia Garden Club arranged for the nationally famous Tree Circus to come to town to delight and educate local students at Washington Elementary and Pacific Union Elementary Schools on March 17 and 18.

Our Humboldt County students were treated to a high-energy and educational program on the importance of trees in the environment and in our neighborhoods. With two shows each day entertaining hundreds of kids, Tree Circus wowed both children and staff. The show is filled with humor, energy and audience participation. The students are encouraged to answer questions and participate with the program.

Tree Circus founder Timmy Womick and his colleague, naturalist Grayson Keating, added nearly 1,000 children to the many, many others who have seen this show in California and throughout the United States for the past eleven years.

Although many across the country celebrate Arbor Day at the end of April, California celebrates Arbor Day early on March 7 in honor of famed California Horticulturalist Luther Burbank’s birthday. In 2011, the California State Assembly and Senate approved Resolution ACR 10 (Dickinson), making California Arbor Day a week-long celebration during March 7 – 14 every year.

Tree Circus is sponsored by a grant from the US Forest Service, CalFire, the Britton Fund and the Western Chapter of the International Society of Arboriculture. Every March, in celebration of Arbor Day, the Tree Circus travels through California, visiting elementary schools, educating and delighting the students. For more information on the Tree Circus, visit treecircus.org.

The Eureka Sequoia Garden Club, founded in 1967, is a member of the California Garden Clubs, Inc. Its goals are to create and promote interest in horticulture, gardening and floral and landscape design; to encourage and engage civic beautification and the improvement of roadsides; to aid in protecting California’s native plants, wildlife and natural beauty; and to promote and participate in projects and programs that conserve our natural resources. Meetings are held the third Friday of each month at the Agriculture Center on Humboldt Hill in Eureka. For more information about the Eureka Sequoia Garden Club, contact President Karen Burgesser at esgc@cagardenclubs.org

Enjoy Easter Sunday services at The Lutheran Church of Arcata

LUTHERAN CHURCH OF ARCATA
ARCATA – The community is warmly invited to The Lutheran Church of Arcata’s festive celebrations on Easter Sunday, April 20. The parish is located between the Cal Poly Humboldt campus and the Arcata Community Forest at 151 East 16th St., Arcata.

Festivities begin with an outdoor Easter Sunrise Service at 7 a.m. — offering early-risers a positive way to greet the rising sun in a beautiful, music-and-light-filled natural cathedral of towering redwoods.

By 7:30 a.m., the church kitchen will be humming with activity, welcoming hungry guests to the enjoyment of an Arcata culinary tradition first begun when the town was young. When this breakfast tradition began in the early 1950s, Arcata was populated by just over 3,700 people and Humboldt State College was attended by 750 students.

Back then, Arcata was called “the lumber center of the West,” and was known also for its fine fishing and hunting, as well as a good dairy industry. Also back then, they really knew how to put out a breakfast spread! This is the heritage of The Lutheran Church of Arcata’s Legendary Easter Breakfast, unchanged and stubbornly unimproved since 1953!

The full-service breakfast, featuring a sit-down menu of home-roasted ham, tender-scrambled eggs, crispy hashbrowns, buttery toast, fresh fruit, homemade baked goods, orange juice and authentic “church coffee” will be served tableside, and diners may arrive anytime between 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. Free-will donations are welcomed and will support the congregation’s Mattole Family Camp this summer.

At 10 a.m., all are invited to celebrate Easter through an uplifting worship service showcasing a traditional Lutheran Divine Liturgy, passed down through the centuries, interspersed with a wide variety of contemporary and traditional music, scripture readings, prayer, reflection and lots of singing. The service will be highlighted by the celebration of Holy Communion, a commemoration of Jesus’ Last Supper with his disciples.

Lutherans, a Christian denomination historically known as “the singing church,” will indeed live up to that moniker on Easter Sunday in Arcata. A diverse variety of jubilant music is in the offing, from literally “pulling out the stops” on its authentic Schlicker pipe organ for traditional hymn singing (accompanied by horns), to contemporary music lead by a rockin’ Praise Band, to choral music presented by small but mighty Lutheran Church of Arcata Choir. Services will be led by Pastor Taylor Hagbo.

After church, there will be a super fun Easter egg hunt for the kids, and time for hanging out with a casual cup of coffee and some delicious baked goods from the Easter Breakfast.

People of every stripe and creed, Christians and non-Christians, spiritual seekers, and those who simply want to start their Easter with an incredible historical breakfast are warmly welcome to join us at The Lutheran Church of Arcata Easter Sunday morning for any or all of these festivities.

The Lutheran Church of Arcata is unique in Lutherandom for maintaining affiliation with both major Lutheran Synods, despite the Synods’ sometimes theologically/politically contentious relationship. The Arcata congregation, comprised of both ELCA and LC-MS affiliates, emphasizes Christ’s unifying love and grace, and strives, in a small way, to reflect Jesus’s prayer that all believers “be one” [John 17:21].

In addition to its focus on Christ’s ecumenical gospel message, The Lutheran Church of Arcata is notable also for its beautiful architecture and setting. Designed by local architect, Marvin Trump, and constructed in the early 1970s (to replace previous facilities taken by eminent domain for the highway through Arcata), the church’s sanctuary is a gorgeous light-filled space, tucked into a redwood forest at the edge of the Cal Poly Humboldt campus and the City of Arcata’s Redwood Park.

OPINION

❖ It's sooooo easy to get your letter published in the Mad River Union: First, sign your letter with a real name and a city of origin, plus a phone number (which won't be published) for identity verification. Then, send it to opinion@madriverunion.com, or the physical address listed on page 2. Finally, make paragraphs, spell check, don't double space and don't capitalize random words. Basically, don't use Martian punctuation and everything will be fine.

Dangerous tafiffs

Humboldt County is aging more rapidly than the U.S., which itself is steadily growing older. Apart from statistics, it's obvious that there are a lot of us seniors around here. It follows then that we need a lot of medications. Most of them are imported. For instance, 80 percent of our antibiotics are imported from China. U.S. pharmaceutical companies focus on the production of drugs covered by patents—the most expensive medications. China, India and others concentrate on generics. China supplies 23.6 percent of U.S. pharmaceutical imports (by weight). China also is the overwhelming world leader in the production of “key starting materials” which are essential for all pharmaceuticals.

Trump's tariff on goods coming from China, currently set at 145 percent, clearly is going to cause a substantial increase in the cost of pharmaceuticals in the U.S.. The administration's tariff policy is supposed to lead to import substitution. Maybe it will. But the effects of tariffs begin immediately. Building new pharmaceutical plants, training employees, etc. would take years. Years that we would have to pay higher prices for, or do without, the medications we need. A dark aspect of human nature

The bullshitter doesn't have a negative relationship to the truth: he has no relationship with the truth; all that matters is influence.

— Harry G. Frankfurt, On Bullshit, 2005

I am not a stand-with-the-crowd and wave-a-sign kind of man, so, no fifth of April protest for me. Instead, I will write this letter to the editor.

Many millions of our fellow citizens were absolutely giddy with the 2024 presidential election results.

I never watched The Apprentice. I wasn't a fan of the main guy's demeanor. To me, he came across as a pompous dick. During his first election run word came out that he flat-out refused to pay the invoices for some contractors that had worked for him. As a self-employed contractor I have had only one client screw me out of my work done and materials that I had paid for. When this person willfully lied and accused me of threatening them in a parking lot, I dropped all efforts to get the money that I was owed. To quote the current prez: it was “very un-Fair.”

However, people love this president. Like... fanatically love him. It doesn't matter that I can't begin to fathom the adoration, they love him. Beyond that, most of them hate me for not loving him.

While the idea of democracy is a lovely one, the original inhabitants of this country were far closer to actual democracy than the formerly United States of America ever were. Have you ever heard of the Iroquois Confederation? The Founding Fathers did. And they liked it so much that they patterned our own Constitution on it, but with a few twists.

We the People, believe that the one true God has granted us the right to plunder and take all that we choose to take. Be it minerals in the ground, life in the ocean and ecosystems of every kind. It is our manifest destiny to dominate the entire planet.

There is a well-known monster in the folklore of many Indigenous First Peoples cultures; Wendigo.

Wikipedia describes Wendigos as an “expression of a dark aspect of human nature: the drive toward greed, consumption and disregard for other life in the pursuit of self-aggrandizement.”

To me, the very idea of a Wendigo is terrifying. To millions of our fellow citizens he is the president, and is beloved.

The billionaire president and his billionaire buddies will use the drop in the tariff-induced market to buy up stocks and companies at reduced prices. And his non-wealthy followers cheer?

Project 2025 is well under way. Despite some bullshit about having nothing to do with it, the current prez is rapidly installing its goals.

We have become a nation divided. No longer is our country a beacon of light and hope for a better future. No longer is America home of the free. And if you are black, brown or female it never was.

With all due respect to my long-dead friend Jim Fahey, the Beatles got it wrong. All we need is not love. No, the reason that our civilization is rapidly self destructing is a terminal lack of empathy.

Postcards of Trinidad, educators of Taiwan

“The Humboldt Project – Postcards of Trinidad,” a collection of both rare and familiar Trinidad images from the Steve Lazar Collection, will open at Trinidad Museum during Trinidad Art Night on Saturday, April 26 from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Steve Lazar and co-curator Nora Thompson, a Cal-Poly intern, will be on hand to greet visitors.

Steve Lazar, a Humboldt County Planner, is a deltiologist (one who studies and collects postcards). He explains, “What began as a curiosity quickly turned from hobby to habit and the collection now stands at 10,000-plus cards, acquired one by one over the past 15 years.” Most of his collection are Humboldt County images from the early 1900s to the present day.

Nora Thompson sorted through hundreds of images to focus on the Trinidad-area postcards which are on view on the four walls of the Photography Room. Among the photographers represented in the Lazar Collection are Jesse Meiser, A.W. Ericson, Sam Swanlund, Frank Patterson, Ed Hess and the Art-Ray Company. Every Trinidad postcard could not fit on the walls so museum registrar Alexandra Cox fit 300 Trinidad images on a digital frame for a continuous loop slide show. Steve made copies of a number of the postcards and they are offered for sale. Go to thehumboldtproject.org for more images.

The following day, Sunday, April 27 from 2 to 4 p.m., Trinidad Museum will hold its 42nd Annual Meeting, which includes a short business meeting, election of directors, and a presentation observing he 250th year since the Spanish Navy sailed into Trinidad Bay on June 9, 1775, claiming Trinidad for King Carlos III of Spain on Trinity Sunday, June 11, 1775.

Museum members, prospective members and guests cordially invited.

Trinidad Museum is open Thursday through Sunday from 12:30 to 4 p.m. Free admission. Call (707) 677-3816 for more information.

In other school news, seventh grader Joda Moran was presented the Trinidad Civic Club Citizenship Award at the Drag-on Assembly this month. Alyse wrote that “Joda is kind, caring, and a super engaged student. His passion for learning and inquisitive nature help foster a positive learning environment in the classroom. He's always ready to lend a hand to teachers and classmates. The kitchen staff thanks him for his willingness to help them before and after lunch. Teachers notice that Joda takes time out of his conversations to greet everyone by name. We appreciate his cheer and humor.”

Federal cuts throw Trinidad Rancheria Library into question

TRINIDAD RANCHERIA

TRINIDAD – On March 31, 2025, the entire Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) staff was placed on administrative leave.

According to a statement from the American Federation of Government Employees Local 3403 “Employees were required to turn in all government property before exiting the building, and email accounts are being disabled today. Museums and libraries will no longer be able to contact IMLS staff for updates about the funding they rely upon.”

In addition to multiple other grants for museums and libraries, IMLS supports

Tribal libraries specifically through their Native American Basic grant program which is a yearly grant of up to $10,000 providing supplies, new books and travel for conferences.

The Trinidad Rancheria has relied on IMLS funding for years to support existing operations and to maintain core library services for our community.

IMLS also funds a Native American Library Services Enhancement grant, designed to assist eligible Native communities in sustaining and improving library services with their communities.

The Trinidad Rancheria Library is a full-service public library with an extensive Native American book selection, public access computers, and is intended to be the holding place for the history of the Tribe, through the preservation of both oral histories and written documents.

Currently the Trinidad Rancheria Library has both a Basic grant and an Enhancement grant through IMLS, and it is unclear as to whether or not the funds will be available to support the work that we proposed. The Enhancement grant funding awarded in 2024 is intended to be used to furnish the Library as we are in the midst of a long awaited remodel.

Without those funds the Tribe will be left with an empty building and will no longer be able to provide our community or the public with access to this important resource.

IMLS grant applications for 2026 are due in April 2025 and without IMLS staff to administer awards, it seems as though all future work is in jeopardy. Reports in the media suggest that most grants will be terminated.

Unfortunately, we have not received any communication from IMLS regarding the status of our open awards and are left to wonder whether we will be able to open our doors as planned once the remodel is completed.

BLANC
BLANC

THE WORLD OF A CLOWN Blanc sur Blanc performs Sunday, April 20 at 7 p.m. at the Arcata Playhouse, 1251 Ninth St. in Arcata. A whimsical and poetic journey into the world of a clown, Blanc sur Blanc follows the comical unraveling of a simple thread from her pants. What begins as a minor inconvenience soon reveals a web of interconnected challenges. As she faces a series of mishaps, the clown discovers that solving problems is never as straightforward as it seems—but always with a touch of humor and creativity. This charming performance is a lighthearted exploration of how the little things in life can spiral into larger, often absurd, dilemmas. Full of physical comedy and heart, Blanc sur Blanc reminds us that in life, all strings are attached... or perhaps, no strings at all. A perfect blend of fun and inspiration for audiences of all ages. SUBMITTED PHOTO

An evening of percussion

CAL POLY HUMBOLDT
CAL POLY CAMPUS – The Department of Dance, Music and Theatre at Cal Poly Humboldt presents Contemporary Music for Percussion on Saturday, April 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the Fulkerson Recital Hall.

Concert tickets are $15 general, $5 children, and $5 for Cal Poly Humboldt students with ID. Tickets may be purchased at the door or in advance at tickets.humboldt.edu/dance-music-and-theatre.

The performance is directed by Howard (Howie) Kaufman.

The Cal Poly Humboldt Percussion Ensemble begins the program by featuring three exciting works, two of which have never before been performed on the North Coast. The first piece, Wanderlust, composed by Chad Heiny, is a piece featuring an array of percussion instruments including steel pans, marimbas, vibraphone, wind gong, a drum set, and much more.

The second piece on the program, Pattern Study #2, is a minimalistic piece consisting of an ostinato bass line played throughout while other performers move freely through twenty-four patterns based off of a F mixolydian scale.

The third and final featured work for the contemporary ensemble, and a Cal Poly Humboldt premiere, is Black Racer by Brian Blume. Black Racer is a piece composed for four players, each playing a large tomtom and different sized cymbals. In addition to a set of temple blocks and bongos, two glockenspiels are played on opposite ends of the setup, creating a canonical, antiphonal effect that contrasts the intensity of the non-pitched instruments.

The concert ends with the World Percussion Group performing two styles from the Afro-Cuban folkloric repertoire, Iyesa for Ogun and Iyesa for Ochun.

Dance Visions emphasize connections

CAL POLY HUMBOLDT
CAL POLY CAMPUS – The Cal Poly Humboldt Department of Dance, Music and Theatre presents Dance Visions directed by Kyleigh Brine.

Join us at the John Van Duzer Theatre Thursday, April 17; Friday, April 18; and Saturday, April 19 at 7 p.m. and on Sunday, April 20 at 2 p.m.

Tickets can be purchased at the door or online at tickets.humboldt.edu/dance-music-and-theatre. Tickets are $13 general, $8 child/senior, and free for Cal Poly Humboldt students with ID.

According to Director Kyleigh Brine, “As I envisioned this Spring Dance Concert and began selecting choreographers, a theme emerged – one of connection. In a world that has recently felt fractured, I’ve come to realize that in times like these, turning to art and community is one way we can navigate the challenges around us. Dance, in its purest form, has the power to change lives, build bridges, and foster meaningful connections. With this in mind, my vision for Dance Visions quickly became about community. I am thrilled to include some of our vibrant dance community members in this concert, incorporating not only our talented dance faculty as choreographers and performers, but also performing guest artists from Ferndale Dance Academy, North Coast Dance, and Trillium Dance Studios.”

Dances being performed are as follows:

- As the Land Breathes, choreographed by student choreographer Miriam Allen, is a modern-ballet piece that weaves together a dialogue between humanity and nature.
- Te Quiero, choreographed by student choreographer Gabrielle Jones, is a tap piece with flamenco influence in honor of her Abuela’s adventure of finding community after leaving her small home town in Spain.

- The Spaces Between Us, choreographed by student choreographer Makena Martin, is a contemporary piece born from personal loss and the journey that followed.
- Storyteller, choreographed by faculty choreographer Shoshanna, is a piece set to music created by Bay Area musicians Shoshanna has known and collaborated with for many years.
- The Twins, choreographed by faculty choreographer Jandy Bergmann, is a contemporary dance inspired by the choreographer’s twin daughters.
- Beneath the Canopy, The River Speaks, choreographed by faculty choreographer Kyleigh Brine, is a contemporary dance suite composed of five pieces inspired by the rivers of Humboldt County.
- Life Goes On, choreographed by faculty member Linda Maxwell, is a contemporary-ballet dance using the music of the Beatles, exploring different aspects of life and the journey of life. This dance is a collaboration between Cal Poly Humboldt dancers and dancers from the North Coast Dance studio in Eureka.

One dancer, Phoenix Jones, is both a dance major at the university, along with being a Company member at North Coast Dance. Jonny Wisan is an alumnus with a dance major from Humboldt State University.

- Homecoming, choreographed by faculty choreographer Haylee Wolff, is a contemporary piece about the deep sense of connection to a place and people; essentially a feeling of being welcomed and accepted in a familiar and cherished place where you can be yourself without reservation. Haylee has recently returned home to Humboldt, and this piece has been a wonderful outlet that represents her own sense of belonging and love for the dance community here in “Homeboldt.”
- Get a Move On!, choreographed by guest choreographer Laura East, is a Jazz piece inspired by the relentless pace of New York City and its urban landscape.

Inspired woodwork, serigraphy at Arcata Artisans

ARCATA ARTISANS
ARCATA PLAZA – All are welcome to visit Arcata Artisans at 883 H St. on the Arcata Plaza and enjoy work by its April featured artists, John Wesa and Eric Christian.

Christian grew up in Humboldt County and began woodworking at a young age. As a devoted beekeeper, he also designs and manufactures beekeeping equipment. Eric creates unique curved inlay boards, many of which are on display at Arcata Artisans. The end grain board woods used include sapele, poplar, cherry and maple. These elegant and complex boards need to be seen to be believed, Eric says

“I’m passionate about woodworking, and one of my favorite outings is a trip to Almqvist Lumber, where I sift through their impressive selection of hardwoods,” Eric said. “Often, I’ll head there with a specific design or project in mind, but there are times when I let spontaneity take over and just see where the wood leads me. Inevitably, I end up purchasing more than I’d planned, but it’s hard to resist the potential in those boards. Once I’m back at the shop, I get to work milling the lumber down to manageable sizes.”

“Some of my most inspired pieces come from forcing myself to dig through the miscellaneous hardwood stash in my shop – hidden gems often emerge from the pile,” Eric said.

“Typically, my projects feature a primary wood species as the foundation, which I enhance with accents in contrasting colors for visual pop. I’m also lucky to have a network of local woodworking friends who share their incredible figured wood with me – pieces I’d never find otherwise. It’s true what they say: one person’s off-cut can become another’s creative treasure.”

John Wesa has been expressing himself through his highly refined medium of serigraphy for many years in his McKinleyville studio.

In John’s own words: “I’ve been here in Humboldt since 1968 with the exception of two short absences. I’m really a product of our community. My work is a response to this magical place. I hope in my work for a purity and grace which will take me away from academic reservation. My work should have a life. (That is, move while you are not looking.) The colors should speak to one another without estrangement. So, if you find a piece of my work in a moldy old cabin: just recall, aren’t the creatures of the forest known for their seats?”
